I am a previous Hospitality Professional with an array of Managerial experience within the expertise of Food & Beverage Operations and Events. Always striving for nothing less than genuine excellence in every relationship and every opportunity. Exhilarated to have been introduced to the possibilities of Tech through the London App Brewery Web Development Bootcamp. With the orchestration of back-end and front-end technologies, I am drawn to the endless possibilities of creating impactful and aesthetically elegant solutions that could potentially change the world, including my own.
